In presenting their Annual Report the Commissioners are enabled to record another year of prosperity at the County Farm and Almshouse. Eleven years have now elapsed since the County adopted the present system of caring for the unfortunate poor within its limits, and to those who look at the matter with candor and an unprejudiced eye, we believe every year is an additional justification of those who were its early advocates as well as those who have been and are now friends of the system. There are a few individuals in the County who believe that it would be cheaper to return to the early method of caring for the poor who are to be provided for, but this fact yet remains to be proved. Provided the County was free of its Farm and all of its buildings to-day, where could they be fed and clothed as well as they now are for the sum of $1.30 per capita per week? On the score of humanity the primitive system has no comparison with the present. That individual must be devoid of charity and sympathy for his fellow who would advocate a return to the system where these unfortunates were distributed among those who would care for them for the least expense, as has been the case in some of the smaller towns, or even to that later and more recent experiment when each city and town endeavored to provide for its own. There was never a time when the poor of this County have been provided with so many comforts at so small a relative expense as under the present system, and those who are conversant with the matter understand full well that even now they are not sufficiently numerous to induce any one to become an inmate except from necessity.

If the County system is wrong in theory and a failure in practice, as some assert, why is it that Massachusetts, one of the most progressive of States, has carried this system of centralization still farther and has maintained at Tewksbury for many years a State Almshouse? To one unbiased the fact is apparent, and can not be gainsaid, that the greater the number collected together in one place, the greater the individual comforts and the less the relative expense. During the year, improvements that have long been needed and might well have been attended to in earlier years have been made. A spring of water has been purchased, pipe laid, and water introduced within the building. For years past the property has been without any adequate protection in case of fire, but as a result of this change the insecurity that followed from a lack of it is in a great measure removed. Work about the house has likewise been much facilitated by reason of its introduction. A yard has been enclosed about the house, and the experience of the past season has shown it to be of great service in restraining those who were disposed to stray away, and thus obviating the expense and annoyance of reclaiming them. In the past the Almshouse has been without suitable necessary houses, and those that existed were so constructed and arranged as to cause many apprehensions on the part of the Commissioners that they might prove to be the source of disease, involving the health and even life of the inmates of the house. Such changes have been made in this matter as to remove all danger in this respect. The total cost of all these necessary improvements has been less than $3,500. During the year a standing growth has been purchased at an expense of two hundred and fifty dollars. Two objects have been attained in its purchase: fuel for the use of the Almshouse has been obtained at a minimum price, while during the winter months the help about the Farm has been utilized. The Court expense of the past year has been unusually large, reaching a total of more than $19,500. This has been a necessary result of the protracted sessions of the Court. As an offset to this the County Treasurer is in receipt of quite a large amount from fines levied on those indicted for the sale of intoxicating liquors. There has been an increase in the County Farm expense during the year of more than $6,000. The total for (1877-78) being $21,542.80, while in the preceding year (1876-77) the expense was $15,162.26. This is to be accounted for in several ways. As a result of the continued stringency of the times many, who in the past have been able to maintain themselves, have been obliged to seek assistance from the County, and there are some with families now dependent who have the ability and disposition to provide for themselves if any opportunities for labor could be found.

Another cause of the increase over the preceding year is to be found in the fact that in order that the report of the Commissioners and County Treasurer might correspond, the report of the former was closed at an earlier date than usual in 1877, so that the total pauper expense of the preceding year as given in the last report, instead of being a statement for 12 months as in the present report, was for 10 months. Moreover, $3,500 of this $6,000 increase is due to the cost of improvements of which mention has already been made.

The expense to the County for each pauper for the year has averaged $1.30 a week. In this amount is included all expenses for clothing, food and all charges incidental to maintenance, and in addition the interest on the money invested in the Farm and buildings. The interest on the property at the Farm averages 26 cents a week for each pauper, so that, aside from the interest, it costs the County $1.04 a week for each individual for maintenance.

Notwithstanding it has been necessary to provide for an increased number, the expense per capita per week has been reduced 26 cents over that of last year without any corresponding decrease in the amount or character of the food or clothing. The school at the Farm has been in session an equal number of weeks with those within the City limits, and the scholars, in point of attainments, will compare favorably with others of their ages in the graded schools of the City. Much credit is due Miss Caswell, the teacher of the last year, for the excellent discipline of the school, and the commendable progress that those under her tuition have made. During the year religious services have been frequently held at the Almshouse by clergymen of this vicinity and others from other localities who have remained for a short time at the Farm. For this gratuitous and commendable work the Commissioners take this opportunity to return their thanks. There are now at the Farm thirty-one persons who are deranged. For the accommodation of these people, the Asylum constructed three years ago is proving admirably adapted. Indirectly it is proving a source of revenue to the County. In the past it has been necessary to send the more severe cases to the Asylum at Concord, for whom there has been a charge of five dollars per week. Now all such cases are retained at the Asylum at the Farm, and the expense is $1.30 per week for each individual. If the County was not in possession of the present Asylum, it would be necessary to send at least half of those tabulated as insane to the Asylum at Concord. It is apparent from this that the construction of this building is proving a profitable investment to the County.

Each year the Commissioners are obliged to reimburse to quite a large amount the several towns of the County for assistance rendered traveling nondescripts, who have no claims upon the towns by reason of birth or former residence; nor are they in any sense objects of charity, for their vagabond life is a result of choice, not necessity. An examination of the reports for the last four or five years will show that there has been an increased outlay from this cause each year, and this expenditure is worthy of thoughtful consideration. We believe that some inexpensive yet efficient means should be devised by which the County should be repaid by the labor of these persons for assistance rendered them.

During the last year as in the past the Farm and Almshouse have been under the supervision of Mr. and Mrs. Caswell. We are pleased to reiterate what has been said to their credit by our predecessors. With the year that has just elapsed they have served for a quarter of a century in the capacities of Superintendent and Matron of Almshouses, —one year at Strafford, thirteen at the Dover City Farm, and eleven at the County Farm. Possessed of excellent executive ability naturally, these years of service make them unusually well fitted for the positions which they have so long and creditably filled. We fully believe that to them more than to any other one cause is due the success which has attended the system in Strafford County. We believe that the Almshouse has been and is so well managed that it might well be a model to many holding similar positions. Each year the Farm is being enhanced in value and improved under his supervision.

Dr. Fenner has been the Medical Attendant at the County Farm and Jail. He has served the County for several years in this capacity, and in every instance and under all circumstances has given entire satisfaction. He has had the confidence alike of the Commissioners and those whom he has treated.

The Jail has been under the supervision of Samuel J. Smith. He has shown himself well adapted for the position, and his management is proving creditable to himself and the County. Changes have been made within the Jail which have much improved its appearance, and rendered it more comfortable for the inmates. One hundred and twenty-four persons have been incarcerated during the year.

Auditors' Report.

The committee appointed by the Strafford County delegation at the last session of the Legislature to examine and audit the accounts of the County Commissioners and the County Treasurer, have attended to their duty, and herewith respectfully present their Report :

Your Committee find vouchers for all orders of the Commissioners given upon the Treasurer, and, in their judgment, the funds of the County, so far as the Commissioners have had the direction of them, have been carefully judicially expended, as will appear in their report. County Farm and its appurtenances.

The accounts of the Treasurer are also correctly and properly vouched.

Your Committee are obliged with regard to the large increase of the County expenses, and this increase will be best shown by the following statements :

	1875-6 (12 mos.)	1876-7 (10 mos.)	1877-8 (12 mos.)
County Farm expense,	$14,200 64	$15,162 16	$21,542 80
Pauper exp. off Farm,	6,800 36	7,244 30	9,354 93
Court    “	7,438 43	7,032 00	19,562 10
Jail       “	2,507 02	1,400 75	3,085 43
Miscellaneous,	2,468 46	2,173 07	3,470 56

The time of making up the accounts was changed in 1877 from May 1st to March 1sts making that financial year a term of 10 months. Making due allowance for the difference in the terms of the respective years, it will still be observed that there is a large increase of cost during the year last past, particularly in court expenses which has correspondingly increased the county debt.

It will be remembered that the County delegation, at the last session of the Legislature, voted to raise the sum of sixty thousand dollars, twenty thousand dollars of which should be applied to the reduction of the debt, and, when collected, it will be available for that purpose, unless there should be a continuance of the present extraordinary court expenses.

Your Committee would repeat the recommendation made in the last auditors' report that legislation be asked to regulate the issue of promissory notes by the County Treasurers; so that all such notes issued shall bear upon them the approval of the County Commissioners; and that the Commissioners be required to keep a record of all notes against their respective counties; also that Town Treasurers be required to report to the County Commissioners the amount of tax collected in their respective towns to the County Treasurer, and that the Treasurers be required to keep a record of the same as required by the Auditors.
